“From Voluntary to Mandatory – New Laws in Sustainable Design and Construction” 1.5 AIA HSW CEU’s
Stites and Harbison, Angela R. Stephens

This Workshop will discuss trends toward sustainable design and construction practices in the construction industry. During the Workshop, the speaker will provide an overview of the requirements contained in the regulations in the 18 states (including a detailed look at Kentucky) which currently provide that public buildings must be designed and constructed in order to be capable of achieving a LEED Silver Rating. Additionally, this Workshop will take a look at the new High Performance Building Standard, ASHRAE 189.1, which was published on January 26, 2010, and discuss the new International Green Construction Code currently being developed. This Workshop will also cover new sustainable design and construction legislative developments in Kentucky such as the Green Schools Caucus.

Yes, I will have LUNCH. No Charge.

Open networking lunch will be served from 12:00 - 1:30 P.M. in the Trade Fair Exhibition area. No charge.

“Integrated Project Delivery- IPD in Action” 1.5 AIA CEU’s
Turner Construction, John Gromos

Integrated Project Delivery (IPD) has become a buzzword in the design and construction industry, but the IPD process is far from mainstream. John Gromos, with Turner Construction will present a brief history of the origins of IPD, what IPD really is and what the main themes/components of IPD include. The presentation also covers the Integrated Forms of Agreement (IFOA) that exist in the market place and how they are utilized.
